

Services

NextiraOne has developed and defined a full portfolio of network and ICT services from basic maintenance to complete outsourced solutions. Our consultancy and support offerings extend across the entire lifecycle of a solution and include evaluation and planning, design, integration, deployment, operational management and continuing optimisation.

Choose the level of assistance you require from a supremely flexible range of service modules. NextiraOne can complement an in-house team on a project or regular basis, provide advice on technical and/or business issues and undertake sophisticated integration work. Generally, we provide ongoing monitoring, optimisation and incident management services. Frequently, we provide all of these - and more - throughout a solution's lifecycle

Professional Services

From the requirements and design of your project to its implementation, NextiraOne's advice and consultancy services give clarity, insight and collaborative expertise.

Integration Services

The best ICT infrastructure integrates and deploys advanced technology solutions from the world's leading manufacturers. NextiraOne can customise these solutions to meet your requirements and ensure their interoperability.
