

Industry

NextiraOne provides specific solutions to meet the needs of organisations in a number of distinct market sectors. Our unique European coverage and scale means that we understand what drives businesses of all sizes, and that one size does not fit all.

Finance and Insurance

Driven by the need to meet regulatory requirements and satisfy the expectations of increasingly knowledgeable and demanding customers, financial institutions are often among the first to recognise the benefits of Unified Communications solutions. At the same time, financial services organisations are critically aware of the need to focus on cost reduction, building shareholder value and creating sustainable communications strategies.

Public Sector

The UK government currently spends more on debt interest than is spent on defence, on transport or on the police, and in George Osborne's opening speech he conceded that the UK has one of the biggest budget deficits in Europe - Â£156bn - a worrying notion. However the Chancellor has stated that the savings will help to "improve Britain's growth potential and create a fairer society, by reinvesting in further education, apprenticeships and social housing."

Healthcare

With constrained budgets, a rapidly ageing and obese population, shifting Patient expectations, as well as Government programmes for extended Patient choice and targets, Healthcare organisations in the UK are having to turn to rapid technological advances to support significant long-term transformation.

International Organisations

Most large international organisations have developed and evolved over time through organic growth and acquisition and their network infrastructure often reflect this, with local sites and subsidiaries making their own technology purchasing decisions. The result is a dispersed and disparate communications environment, pieced together which often creates a network which is unstable and inefficient.

Hospitality

In an age of increasing mobility and communication, the Hospitality sector must keep pace with the communications needs and expectations of its guests.